Thank you to all who sponsor the floodlighting of East Harling Church

SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

Continuing on Wed 26th October at 7pm in St Peter and St Paul's, East Harling. This will be the 4th weekly session for an hour Open to anyone in the Benefice, this is an ongoing opportunity to learn more about the Christian faith. Sometimes we will look at books of the Bible, or at different current affairs and how our faith interacts with them. But to begin with, we will go back to basics, and look at the basic foundations of the Christian faith, using the Apostles' Creed as a guide. All are welcome – and feel free to invite people who don't currently attend Church, but might be interested. It will involve teaching from Simon, but with opportunity to ask questions, disagree, have discussion – but no expectation that you will have to say anything if you don't want to!
Any questions, get in touch with Revd Simon Richardson on 01953 558763.

MIDWEEK COMMUNION

Dear Harling & Guiltcross Benefice,

It is with great joy I write to you, for the first time, to introduce my family and I ahead of our arrival next July when, God willing, I will be ordained at Norwich Cathedral to serve my curacy with you.

My name is Josh, and together with my wife, Beth, and our 18 month old daughter, Eden, we are looking forward to getting to know you all over the next few years as my training as an ordained minister continues. I am currently training contextually, so spending a few days a week focussing on academia and the remainder of my time in a parish setting in rural South Norfolk.

Finding a curacy is much like a pre-arranged blind date - the Bishop invites you to meet a potential incumbent to see if things might work. Part of that blind date might include a phone call, a get together or even a visit - but fairly quickly a decision must be made on if they think it will work. As Simon and I both prayerfully considered whether a curacy would be suitable, I embarked on a stealth day trip around the benefice, popping into the open churches to see what they were like - and it was at this point I knew it was the right place for me to be.

As I explored the Churches, from the stone altar at Larling, to the modern frontal at Riddlesworth; the east window at East Harling, to the detailed tiled chancel at Blo Norton, I was captured by the care and love poured into your buildings. However, it was as I looked deeper that I saw so many signs of life; a well-loved votive stand at Garboldisham with candles burning, music lists filled with choral mass settings and hymns at East Harling, rota's attached to notice boards with readers, flower arrangers and intercessors, advertisements for bell ringing practice and even the wonderful smell of fresh summer flowers. Each church I visited showed life in abundance. Each church I visited captured the very essence of a living faith.

So, it is with great joy that I look forward to serving my curacy with you, worshipping alongside you, living among you and most importantly, adding my prayers to the rich history of prayer that has been before across the whole benefice.

Please do hold Beth, Eden and I in your prayers as I complete my final year of study and as we prepare to enter this new season of life. We are all looking forward to meeting you in person as soon as we can!

With every blessing,

Josh Whitnall

EAST HARLING & KENNINGHALL MEDICAL PRACTICE - Practice update: October 2022

Thank you to everyone who has provided feedback in respect of our first newsletter contribution in September.

The Practice has had another very busy few weeks, which has included 2 Saturday flu clinics where approximately 1,000 patients have received their flu vaccinations. Our next scheduled Saturday morning flu clinic is on Saturday 5th November at East Harling. Appointments for this clinic can be requested via our website, telephoning the Practice, or asking at the Reception desks at either East Harling or Kenninghall.

During September we have welcomed Dr Paul Cronin and Dr Ian Jennings to the Practice, who are providing maternity cover for one of our GPs. Dr Carsten Soborg is also providing additional GP support. In addition we are in the process of recruiting additional non-clinical staff to support the continuing growth in patient demand, and have this month increased resource levels in our Dispensary.

The number of patients not attending a scheduled appointment reduced from 120 appointments in August, but there were still unfortunately 80 appointments lost in September, so I would repeat my plea to patients to please let us know as soon as they know that they cannot attend an appointment (whether this is a face to face or telephone appointment) in order that we can offer their appointment to another patient.

As I mentioned in the previous newsletter, I am very keen to gather as much patient feedback as possible so that we can continually strive to improve patient experience. Thank you to the 120 patients who have completed Patient Feedback forms over the past 4-5 weeks. These forms are available at both Practice sites and on our website. I do read every one of these forms, specifically looking to address any concerns raised by patients and pass on positive feedback to staff highlighted by our patients.

Healthwatch Norfolk recently visited our East Harling site to speak to patients visiting on that day and we will be reviewing and actioning their report when we receive it in conjunction with our Patient Participation Group which is in the process of being relaunched.

We have received some feedback about difficulties with our telephone system during busy periods. This is being reviewed to increase line capacity, but in the meantime, I would appeal for our patients' support in not dialling both telephone numbers simultaneously from 2 telephones, for example, from a mobile and a landline, because all calls to both numbers are automatically routed into 1 queue for our combined Reception team to answer.

If I could please also request that patients utilising the car park at the rear of our East Harling site do not drive on to the driveway of the residential property beyond the car park as this driveway does not belong to the Practice.

If you have any feedback or topics which you would like to see in these newsletter articles from the Practice, please contact me at s.round3@nhs.net

THE GARDEN IN NOVEMBER

Borders: A good time to dig out new beds and borders. Weed several times before planting new shrubs, trees and perennials.

Deciduous shrubs, trees and hedges: From mid-November to early March is the ideal time for planting bare root woody plants. Dig the area to be planted and add well-rotted manure - these are long term plantings. Good nurseries and garden centres will be able to supply them. Peter Beales at Attleborough normally digs roses to order. My beech hedge at the front of the house and my tapestry hedge at the back came mail order from Glebe Farm Hedging at Langham on the Suffolk-Essex border. Before planting soak the roots for no more than 30 minutes. You should be able to see the level they were in the soil, and aim to plant at the same depth. Dig the hole about twice as wide as the root spread. Cover the roots in layers, shaking the plant gently to get the soil to settle around them. Firm in with your foot. Trees will need staking. If we have strong winds check them occasionally and re-firm the soil around them. If you can't plant them straight away dig a narrow trench and heel them in.

Lawns: The most asked about plant this year is grass. By now you will have a pretty good idea how your lawn has fared during the drought. Walking around the village some lawns have recovered more or less fully, others have a few bald patches, and some are almost completely dead, so where to go from here? If you are one of the lucky ones with a more or less ok lawn then just follow your normal autumn routine. Rake dead leaves up regularly so that your grass can breathe and see the sun. Mow with the blades set high when the grass is dry. Leave for a couple of days then aerate by making holes with a fork (you can hire power tools for this if you have a large lawn) and rake over a top dressing applied at the rate of about a shovel full per sq. metre, finishing with the back of a rake until it has more or less disappeared. You can buy readymade dressing or make your own from 3 parts sandy soil, 6 parts sharp sand and one part multipurpose compost or leaf mould. This process encourages better root growth and makes your lawn more resilient to drought and waterlogging.

If you have small bare patches, treat as above then rake out the bigger gaps to a few cms deep and fill with some of the dressing mix. You can sprinkle a small amount of seed and rake to cover by about 5 mm, and you will probably still get reasonable germination, if not then you can re-sow these patches in Spring.

If your lawn is beyond help you can remove the grass and prepare a new lawn. (might be a good opportunity to rethink the layout of your garden). It is not too late to lay turf, but don't lay if the ground is waterlogged or frozen. Keep the new lawn free from build-up of leaves. Water if necessary. If you prefer the cheaper option of seed start to prepare the ground on sunny days during November through to about February (there is no hurry). Remove the dead grass and dig over the area to be grassed. Dig in leaf mould or compost and rake the soil. Flatten with a roller or by standing on boards and rake again. The aim is to provide sufficient depth of reasonable soil for the roots, which can easily go down 20 cm. As with laying turf don't dig frozen soil - that will slow down warming up in the Spring. In late March or early April (depending on the weather) flatten again, rake and sow a good quality seed, raking in gently to hide some from the birds. The coarser utility grasses fared better this summer, but who knows what next year will bring. There are also mixes that include wild flowers available if you want to do your bit for nature.

Seeds: There will be a few days when even the hardiest amongst us prefer to stay inside. That is a good time to browse the seed catalogues (either hard copy or on the internet). Be wary of listings on eBay and if tempted check that they are UK seeds - many of the diseases affecting well known plants and trees have come in from abroad - Dutch Elm disease, Ash die-back, Horse Chestnut canker to name but a few. If using a paper catalogue draw a ring around the seeds you would particularly like to try - you never know Father Christmas may see them!

Good Gardening

EAST HARLING GARDENING CLUB

At our October meeting we had a fascinating talk by Simon Partridge from the Howe Hill Trust, who are an environmental study centre in the heart of the Broads. They have gardens that look well worth a visit, and put on occasional courses and events (eg a pudding night in November). We are hoping to organise a visit next year

Tuesday 8 November at 7.30 will be a holly wreath making demonstration and December a Christmas lunch at The Swan for members only (another good reason to become a member). Tuesday 9th January sees the return of a quiz night with light refreshments (bring your own bottle). As always no charge for members, and visitors just £3 per head. (Nonmembers please book with me on 07594 286 139, so that we know how many to cater for). Tables of up to six people, but if you want to come alone don't worry we will find you a team. Space is limited, so...book early - we have reserved tables for members.

A quick Taster:

What item was removed from the menu of The Brighton Bell train in 1970 that caused Laurence Olivier to lead a campaign for its reinstatement? In what modern day country is Mount Tambora, which produced the largest volcanic eruption in the last 2000 years?

How is the houseplant schlumbergera better known?

Want to know the answers -you will have to come to the Quiz!

We meet at The Old School Hall at 7.30 on the second Tuesday of the month. Visitors are welcome at most of our meetings for just £3.
or why not become a member for just £9 – some of our events are for members only, and others members get priority.

STOP PRESS at the time of writing there are 9 seats still available the coach trip to the Cromer Christmas Show matinee on Thursday December 15. Cost is £35 including ticket for the show, and there will be a couple of hours to sightsee or get lunch before the show. This is open to non-members. To book please phone Mary on 01953 717 193 by the 14 November at the latest - we have to confirm numbers and pay the venue on the 15th.

BOOK REVIEWS BY Sally

The Good Servant by Fern Britton

This was the first time I had read Fern Britton's books. I know she is now a prolific author. I only knew of her in her broadcasting days and the fact she lives in a beautiful part of the West Country, a place close to my heart. I had the chance to read this book whilst having a cold recently. It was perfect for not being disturbed and sitting by a lovely warm fire. This book was straightforward to read, and I enjoyed it immensely. It is similar to the TV production of "The Crown" currently showing on Netflix. This book was very descriptive, which I liked, and it was easy to see the situations described. If you are looking for a good but easy read, give it a go. I highly recommend it.

The Hundred-Year-Old Man who climbed out of the Window and Disappeared by Jonas Jonasson

I was intrigued by the title, so I recently purchased it at a charity shop. It was first published in Sweden in 2009 and has since been translated into English. I think that is where my challenge with this book lies. I had hoped it would be a good read, but the sentences' structure didn't fit together. Having seen it was translated from Swedish, it all makes sense.

The story is an understandable one. I think of someone in a nursing/residential home not wanting to celebrate their birthday, particularly their 100th birthday. And so he escapes out of the window, not something most people of that age would think of doing, I am sure. The book started well but lost its way about halfway through as reading the poorly constructed sentences just got to me in the end, and I gave up. It was not something I usually do, but it was fast becoming a book I didn't want to pursue. However, it may be right up your street, so why not try?

Artemis by Andy Weir

For those of you sci-fi fanatics, you'll love this book. Andy Weir's first book was the Martian. The film was fabulous, and I had to read the compelling book. Artemis is another excellent sci-fi book but not as exciting to read as The Martian. I am guessing it is because this is the second book, and we know everything that happened initially, so that is the reason. It was not so enjoyable to read, well, for me anyway. I like sci-fi to an extent, but I did struggle with this one and kept falling asleep to it. Never good. If you loved reading The Martian, try this one. I suspect you will enjoy it more than me.

DESIGNERS & MAKERS

We had such a good day on the 22nd of October, the church was buzzing, a really great atmosphere and lots of people visiting throughout the day. The children enjoyed ringing the bells and the adults had the opportunity to go up to the ringing chamber and have a go on one of our church bells under Jeremy Warren's supervision.

In addition there were wonderful pieces of creative art works; colourful stained and fused glass; lovely pottery including some really wild chickens! We were fortunate to have some beautifully embroidered vestments from Sister Teresa, from the Quidenham Carmelite Monastery and two banners from a Northamptonshire church kindly lent to us for the day. There were some beautiful paintings from Maz Jackson who also helped to curate the event, thanks Maz!

There was basketry on display and to purchase. There were demonstrations of embroidery, weaving, printing, and bookbinding. There were some really unique textile pieces to purchase. There was also the opportunity to have a go at printing a card as a souvenir of the event. Also there were examples of metal casting and some examples of early knitting!

In addition there were an amazing collection of cakes, tray bakes, scones and tea cakes all kindly donated by our willing team of home bakers, who also volunteered to man the refreshments service throughout the day. Everyone who visited enjoyed the opportunity to sit and relax with a cuppa.

All in all a very successful and enjoyable event, which brought many people into the church for the first time and also raised a very useful sum for church funds.

Thanks to the Designers themselves for agreeing to spend the day with us and to everyone who supported the event in one way or another it was really great!

DESIGNERS & MAKERS... continued from P 16

I should also mention David Wheeler, furniture designer who has supported us in helping to prepare the church ready for the Event and also with the display of his beautiful unique hand-made furniture. His Stargazer seat pictured above attracted a lot of interest. The Harling Chair and the rakes on display made the porch of the church look really welcoming. Thank you David!

If anyone is interested in contacting one or more of the Designers, either to visit their workshop or to commission a piece of work, please email the Editor.

Scam messages and how to report them (thanks to Which magazine Ed.)

Scammers are looking to steal your details by sending fake text messages claiming to be from the retailer Amazon. These phoney texts tell you to follow a link to secure your account following an attempted login. They are examples of phishing texts, which are designed to steal your personal data in order to scam you either now or in the future.

There has also recently been fraudulent texts from scammers impersonating the government to offer non-existent discounts on energy bills. Hopefully you are aware you do not need to apply for the discount it is automatically applied to your energy bill. There are other scammers sending text messages purporting to come from your son or daughter saying they have lost their phone and asking them to use a false number to contact them. Once parents are convinced they are talking to their son or daughter via text they then get asked for help and to send them money which of course they then lose.

Recently, Amazon has repeatedly been targeted by scammers looking to catch out unsuspecting customers. Many people have taken to Facebook to warn others about these scams, and searches for 'Amazon login scam text' have surged on Google.

Another scam text example reads: Amazon: We detected a login into your account from a new device on 17/10/2022 at 15:10:08 UTC. If this wasn't you, you can terminate that session via: [https://checkup-amazon.com].'

Report internet scams and phishing - Please take the time to report misleading websites, emails, phone numbers, phone calls or text messages you think may be suspicious.

Please be aware that you should not give out private information (such as bank details or passwords), reply to text messages, download attachments or click on any links in emails if you're not sure they're genuine.

However, these scammers are getting more and more sophisticated, making their messages look like the genuine article, it is really difficult to be sure whether they are genuine or not—so if in doubt—check it out! Indeed if you think it might be a scam report it.

Suspicious emails- Forward the email to report@phishing.gov.uk. The National Cyber Security Centre \(NCSC\) will investigate it. When you forward the message you get an automated reply which states:

As of 30/9/2022 the number of reports received stands at more than 14,400,000 with the removal of more than 100,000 scams across 184,000 URLs. We are unable to inform you of the outcome of our review, but we can confirm that we do act upon every message received. We will analyse the content of the email you have sent to us and any websites it links to. If we discover activity that we believe to be malicious, we may seek to block the address the email came from, so it can no longer send emails; work with website hosting companies to remove links to malicious websites; raise awareness of commonly reported suspicious emails and methods used with the help of our partners.

Text messages - Forward the text message to 7726 - it's free. This will report the message to your mobile phone provider.

(The information was taken from an article in Which magazine from last month)
